

Are you worried arguments with your partner or ex-partner are affecting your children?

Some level of arguing is normal for most couples, and when it's resolved well, it causes no harm. But if these arguments are intense, are happening more often and are not getting sorted out properly, they can have an impact on your children.

If you are worried disagreements are affecting family life, help is on hand.

Scan below to find out more or call 0800 0345 340

BARNSLEY
Metropolitan Borough Council